VICT WELCOMES MUA ILLEGAL PICKET REMOVAL

The Chief Executive of Victoria International Container Terminal Ltd, Mr Anders Dommestrup, today welcomed the MUA decision to remove the illegal picket it had organised and managed for the past two and a half weeks.

'Our employees, who played no part in the illegal picket, will be able to enter our site this afternoon. I thank them sincerely for their support and patience.

'I also thank the Australian Maritime Officers Union, of which some of our employees are members, for its forbearance.

'We welcome the fact that the MUA will be processing its claims through the Fair Work Act.

'We are currently entering the terminal to prepare it for full re-opening as soon as possible and we will inform all our customers directly through 1-Stop.'

About Victoria International Container Terminal Limited (VICT)

VICT was appointed in 2014 to build and operate the new automated container terminal located at the Port of Melbourne's Webb Dock East. Currently, VICT lays claim to being the world's most automated container terminal and will be able to service the larger vessels which shipping lines want to bring to Australia.

VICT's facility delivers a leading global standard in modern container terminal design, innovation and operations, and is the flagship facility in Australia's premier port. VICT utilises the best-proven technologies and innovations to deliver automated operations from the gate to the quayside.

VICT is owned by International Container Terminal Services, Incorporated (ICTSI), a global container terminal operator headquartered in Manila, Philippines with a portfolio of 30 terminals throughout 21 countries, across 6 continents. ICTSI has a pledged commitment to supporting the welfare and education of young people in the communities where it operates.
