PANEL 1. DOMESTIC SHIPPING

- Patrick Guarino (General Manager – Searoad Pty Ltd)
- Geoff Gruebner (Executive General Manager – Straitlink Pty Ltd)
- Ian Whitechurch (TT Lines Tasmania)

The domestic shipping panel will provide an in-depth look at the future of Bass Strait shipping in Tasmania, a critical link for trade, tourism, and regional supply chains. With significant new investments in vessels, port infrastructure and capacity expansion, the panel will explore how these developments are shaping the shipping landscape, creating new opportunities, and addressing emerging challenges. Attendees will hear directly from leaders representing all three major carriers operating across the Bass Strait, gaining unique perspectives on:

- Strategic priorities for fleet modernisation and vessel deployment
- Port development initiatives and their impact on efficiency and connectivity
- Capacity growth, logistics planning, and the challenges of balancing demand with sustainability
- Emerging opportunities for industry collaboration and innovation

MORNING TEA

10am to 10.30am

- Senator Tammy Tyrrell
Senator for Tasmania and past Chair of the Tasmanian Freight Equalisation Scheme committee

PANEL 2. RAIL AND PORTS

- Steven Dietrich (Chief Executive Officer - Tasrail)
- Leigh Petchel (Chief Finance and Strategy Officer – Port of Melbourne)
- Michael De Vos (Manager Assets and Technical Services CEO - TasPorts)

The rail and ports panel will examine Tasmania's critical transport infrastructure and its role in supporting efficient supply chains and economic growth. With increasing demands on rail networks and port operations, the panel will explore opportunities for innovation, collaboration, and strategic investment across the freight ecosystem. Attendees will gain insights on:

- Current and future rail infrastructure developments and their impact on freight efficiency
- Port operations, modernisation initiatives, and capacity planning
- Collaboration opportunities across the supply chain to improve connectivity and logistics outcomes
- Innovative solutions to enhance productivity, sustainability, and competitiveness.

LUNCH

12pm to 1pm

Assistant Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry (Federal)

PANEL 3. INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING AND SHIPPERS' PERSPECTIVE

- Shane Walden (Chief Executive Officer Australia ANL CMA CGM)
- Invitation pending
- Invitation pending

The international shipping and shippers panel will provide insights into the global shipping landscape and Tasmania's role in international freight networks. Against the backdrop of evolving trade dynamics, increasing export opportunities and shifting supply chain patterns, this panel will explore how supply chain participants navigate challenges while creating opportunities for Tasmania's exporters. Attendees will gain perspectives on:

- Global trade trends and how they impact Australian and Tasmanian exporters
- Opportunities for Tasmania in international shipping and freight networks
- Operational and strategic priorities of major shipping lines in servicing the region
- Challenges in balancing efficiency, capacity, and regulatory considerations in global trade

(Chair, Board of Directors, Australian Maritime College) [INVITED]

PANEL 4. OBSERVATIONS AND DISCUSSION

- Brett Charlton (Director, The Ship Consulting / Tasmanian Regional Representative – FTA/APSA)
- Thomas Holyman (Vice President, Ocean Freight - Australia & New Zealand at Toll Global)
- Invitation pending
- Invitation pending

The final session will synthesise the key themes emerging throughout the day and examine them through three critical lenses — industry, exporter and government. With representation spanning commercial freight operations, global commodity trade and Commonwealth trade policy, this panel will explore:

- The practical implications of freight performance on export competitiveness
- The intersection between logistics markets and trade diplomacy
- Where regulatory, infrastructure or policy reform could deliver material improvement
- How Tasmania can strengthen its position within national and global supply chains

Rather than a simple wrap-up, this session aims to identify clear signals for collaboration, reform and strategic direction in the years ahead.
