

A Leadership Announcement from AGS World Transport

Dear Customers and Partners,

We are writing to share some news about the leadership of AGS World Transport.

Shane Walden has been appointed Chief Executive Officer, Oceania (Australia and New Zealand), commencing 18th August, 2026. At the same time, Terry Tzaneros moves from Executive Chairman to Chairman.

Shane brings more than two decades of international shipping and logistics leadership to AGS. He is an experienced Chief Executive Officer whose career has spanned Australia, Hong Kong and France, giving him a global perspective alongside a deep understanding of the Oceania trade. Shane has long been an advocate for customer experience, sustainability and workplace culture across our industry.

Terry Tzaneros said: "Shane is one of the most capable operators in this industry, and I have watched his career with admiration for a long time. AGS has been built over 40 years on relationships and on doing right by our customers, and I have no doubt Shane will carry that forward."

Shane Walden said: "AGS has an outstanding reputation in this market, built over four decades. I am looking forward to working with the team, and with our partners and clients, to build on that."

The AGS executive team remains unchanged and hence this appointment is about strengthening AGS for the years ahead, not changing what has worked for four decades.

Shane looks forward to meeting many of you in the months ahead. In the meantime, please contact your usual AGS representative with any questions.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact your local AGS Sales or Customer Service Representative for more information.
