WiseTech Academy accredited to offer TLI50816 Diploma of Customs Broking

WiseTech Academy today announced that it has been accredited by the Australian Government training regulator, ASQA, to provide the nationally recognised TLI50816 Diploma of Customs Broking (the Diploma). This accreditation will allow WiseTech Academy to offer a fresh approach to training future customs brokers in Australia.

The Diploma is accepted by the National Customs Brokers Licensing Advisory Committee (NCBLAC) as the pre-requisite course for those seeking to become licensed Customs Brokers in Australia.

When developing the Diploma, WiseTech Academy commissioned licensed customs brokers, who are also practising industry professionals, to provide relevant learning and assessment resources. All content was reviewed by Sue Danks, WiseTech Global's Manager of Border Compliance, who has been heavily involved in writing, teaching and examining courses for customs brokers for over 30 years.

Bill Murphy, Head of Operations and Business Development for the Academy says, "This course provides comprehensive, up-to-date and job-relevant content for aspiring customs brokers in Australia. It's been designed so that individuals in the industry can complete single modules without the need to enrol in the entire program. This is a great way for others, including classifiers and compilers, to benefit from the expertise and knowledge provided.

"The Diploma is self-guided so that learners can choose to move through the course at their own pace. Students have access to practising customs brokers for support through input, knowledge and encouragement."

WiseTech Academy is now open for enrolments for next Semester commencing 18 January 2021. The Academy welcomes enquiries from new entrants to the course as well as persons who may have partially completed the TLI50816 Diploma of Customs Broking through other institutions. The Academy offers full recognition for Diploma modules completed elsewhere under its credit transfer process, provided at no cost to the enrollee.
